A wide-angle, high-angle photograph of a large, crowded exhibition hall. The hall is filled with people, mostly men in business attire, walking through the aisles. On the left, a large white booth features the 'adif' logo and the text 'adif' and 'adif'. In the background, a large sign reads 'Cafeteria - F.C. crante'. Other signs include 'BROUZZATI', 'MELK', and 'WALL SYSTEM'. The lighting is bright, and the overall atmosphere is busy and professional.

Bit surge como un festival comprometido con traer los videojuegos retro al ámbito competitivo actual. Se trata de proporcionar a los jugadores un nuevo entorno donde mostrar su habilidad y descubrir formas de entretenimiento similares a sus gustos, centrado en diferentes videojuegos que marcaron la industria.

Bit busca crear un festival recurrente y sostenible en el tiempo, proporcionando actividades accesibles a todos. El festival centrará sus esfuerzos en lograr una experiencia competitiva retro que sea disfrutable para todo tipo de jugadores, sin importar su edad, nivel de habilidad, género o cualquier otra particularidad.
